Each of ULSTEIN's business partners, including, customers, suppliers (including product and service providers), contractors, subcontractors, distributors, agents and other intermediaries, consultants and joint venture partners are recognized as an important member of the worldwide team contributing to ULSTEIN's success. In order to provide superior products and services in a responsible manner, we require our business partners to meet our high expectations for ethics and compliance. This code of conduct (the "Code of Conduct") sets forth our expectations and requirements for each of our business partners and aligns with the expectations we maintain for our own directors, officers, employees and representatives. Our goal is to develop relationships with business partners who share our high corporate values of trust, integrity, teamwork, accountability and reliability, and conduct business in a lawful and ethical manner.

Each of ULSTEIN's business partners are expected to have compliance and ethical standards that are compatible with this Code of Conduct and to require the same from their own set of business partners, especially those that conduct business for ULSTEIN. This Code of Conduct is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all ethical and business conduct requirements to be followed by our business partners. You are responsible for ensuring that your officers, directors, employees, representatives, and business partners understand and comply with applicable laws and this Code of Conduct.

ULSTEIN is committed to respecting internationally recognized human rights and decent work conditions in our own business operations as well as in our value chain. ULSTEIN is a member of the UN Global Compact and endorse internationally recognized human and labour rights, including the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the UN Convention on Civil and Political Rights and the UN Convention on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and ILO's core conventions. ULSTEIN further endorse the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, the UK Modern Slavery Act and the Norwegian Transparency Act.

We expect and require our business partners to do the same and we aim to only work with partners which fulfil these requirements.

This Code of Conduct shall form an integral part of any agreement, purchase order and/or order confirmation to which this Code of Conduct forms a part (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Agreement").

ULSTEIN takes a partnership approach to business partners in an effort to pursue this Code of Conduct by proactively seeking continuous improvement as well as in our business partners within the areas covered by this Code of Conduct. If business partners fail to comply with the Code of Conduct, ULSTEIN's general policy is to first encourage improvement before termination of business relationships. Failure to comply with this Code of Conduct may, however, result in termination of business relationships and the Agreement.
